Mitsubishi is not immune to the lemon law. They have had problems over the years. Some of these problems with lemon vehicles include:

- Eclipse Complaints & Problems: air bags not properly deploying, service brakes having longer than normal pedal stroke.
- Mirage Complaints & Problems: engine problems, air bag improperly working, transmission programming preventing acceleration.

If it is a lemon, as a reminder: you are entitled to compensation, which could include reimbursement for repairs, replacement of the vehicle, or a refund for the vehicle.

California Lemon Law

When you purchased your new Mitsubishi, it was accompanied by a manufacturer's warranty. This warranty protects you and your vehicle for certain repairs if requested within a set period. If your warranty is still good, then you are covered under California's Lemon Law.

To qualify for the protections under the Lemon Law, you must answer one set of the following questions affirmatively:

- Under manufacturer warranty, did you have four or more repairs for the same defect? Did the defect begin under the factory warranty?
- Under manufacturer warranty, did you attempt to repair at least twice a safety defect that could that safety defect result in serious bodily injury or death?
- Under manufacturer warranty, was your Mitsubishi out of service 30 cumulative days? If you answered yes to any one of these three sets of questions, your Mitsubishi may be a lemon, qualifying you for compensation.
